SUMMER {CODING}

with the Learning Resource Center

LRC's Summer Coding Workshop is led by educated STEM communicators to help students discover the fundamentals of code in an exciting and productive learning domain.

Students who attend the workshop will:

- Learn the basics of coding
- Gain program design experience
- Engage with the MIT App Inventor
- Practice the Python programming language
- Use student imagination in game-based learning
- Develop skills through interaction and review

Students will bring their own device such as a laptop, tablet or smart phone.

LRC's commitment to your child's success ensures that your student will receive quality instruction from highly-qualified instructors in a small-group setting.

LRC is accredited by Cognia and has a proud 47-year history of providing premier academic programs designed to help all students maximize their learning potential.
